"Space Age is the title of the new exhibition at London's Hus Gallery and features four young emerging artists - Nathan Green from Texas, Ophelia Finke from Frankfurt, Germany, Santiago Taccetti, an Argentine based in Berlin, and Konrad Wyrebek from Poland. The theme is based on the Italian artist Lucio Fontana's description of Spatialism which called for artists to expand their work into the third dimension and away from the illusory space of conventional painting. He encouraged the use of new technologies to create 'art for the space age'."
